A GASTLY SPECTACLE.

Standing Buffalo Decapitated.

His Head on Exhibition in Saint Paul.

Every one who has lived any length of time in the State or who is familiar with Indian affairs, has heard of the great Chief, Standing Buffalo, the King of the prairie, and leader of one of the most powerful tribes in the Northwest.

We were quite surprised yesterday to learn that a friend at Fort Ridgely, had forwarded to Mr. Golcher, a bow and arrow, powder horn and bullet bag which formerly belonged to that Chief, and as if not satisfied had added the head of Standing Buffalo to the collection. No explanation is given to the public, but it is sufficient to know that they are now on exhibition at Golcher's gun store and were examined by numerous citizens yesterday.

The hair on the head is thick and heavy, and twisted in the usual style. The fierce flashing eyes for which Standing Buffalo was so celebrated, are in the socket to which it is scarcely visible, and a ghastly grin displays the teeth of this once powerful leader. The head is of large size, and even in death, seemed as if from the body, gives evidence that it must have belonged to a ruling spirit in the tribe with which he was connected.

The bow, arrow, powder-horn and bullet-bag are enclosed in deer skin and have been prepared by Standing Buffalo himself. The whole collection forms a unique group and is well worth looking at. Thus ignominiously presents a former lord of the plains.

We leave "Pax" and other Indian humanitarians to exhibit upon the taste displayed in the exhibition of these trophies.

A Meeting of the Fire Department Association was held on Monday, May 22, 1865. L. H. Eddy, President of the Association, presiding.

On motion a committee of three was appointed on resolutions. The Chair appointed Messrs. C. H. Williams, E. O. Partridge, and J. M. Kane, who reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, it has pleased an all-wise Providence to remove from our midst our brother, John A. Fekkenham, therefore Resolved, That in the deceased we recognize all those fine qualities which denote the firm friend and reliable gentleman.

Resolved, That in the important public position which the deceased has held, and the time and trouble he has expended in the service of the State and Country of the city of St. Paul, he has secured to us invaluable benefits and reflected honor upon the Fire Department.

Resolved, That we tender to the family of the deceased our heartfelt sympathy in their irreparable loss.

Resolved, That a copy of the above preamble and resolutions be presented to the family and published in the daily papers of the city.

L. H. EDDY, Pres.

Minnesota Valley Road.—We learn that the iron for laying the track from Mendota to Belle Plaine is on the way and that the first installment will soon arrive and track laying will be commenced.

The Valley road has contemplated reaching this city by the line from Mendota down, which the Central road commenced to build last year. This line the Central Company has failed to complete, and this season has suspended operations upon it, with the probability that if left to them it will remain unfinished for several years. The business men of the city will undoubtedly see that no such delay occurs as it is of the most vital importance that that portion of the line should be completed as soon as any part of the road is ready for passenger trains.

Perjury.—Casper Sonberg was brought before Commissioner Cardozo yesterday on the charge of perjury. In order to relieve himself of this last he swore before a Notary Public in Stillwater that he was not a citizen and had never voted. Unfortunately for Casper he had pre-empted some land and in so doing swore directly to the contrary. He waived an examination and gave bonds to appear at the next term of the U. S. Court in June.

Personal.—Rus Munger who has been cast to tune his "harp of a thousand strings" returned yesterday morning. He brought back some excellent pictures of Jeff. Davis in petticoats, and best of all, he didn't forget to supply the Press with papers twenty-four hours in advance of the mails.

Assault.—Michael Sullivan was taken with a belligerent mood yesterday morning, and relieved himself by attacking Anthony Mackousky near Dayton's Bluff, with a stick of wood, stones, &c. His temper was cooled down by a ten dollar fine.

Belligerent.—Christina Krucke is a female of pugnacity. She has a penchant for rows, and her last one was breaking her neighbor's windows and ripping about the neighborhood generally. Captain Heck brought her up to the Police Court yesterday, and she was fined five dollars for her last freak.

New Building.—Ground was broken yesterday for a new building on the corner of Third and Jackson streets. It will have a front on Third street of thirty-four feet and will be eighty feet deep. Mr. A. H. Wilder is erecting it.

Protestant Orphan Asylum.—The ladies of the city should remember that a meeting is to be held in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian Church at 2 P. M. to-day, for the purpose of forming a Protestant Orphan Asylum.

3-30 Special Notice.—The 3-30 Loan dated 15th June has been taken. The next, or third series, will be due date July 15th, and this bank will pay interest to that date at the rate of 7-30 per cent. on all subscriptions. This, the last loan, will, it is supposed, be taken in sixty days.

Now is the last chance to subscribe.

President Lincoln as a Practical Inventor.

In the Washington correspondence of the Boston Daily Advertiser of Monday last we find the following very interesting statement, as showing in the steps by which the Mississippi Flatboatman grew intellectually to the full development of his powers as one of the greatest men of his period. It is more than valuable, and may serve to demonstrate the fact that Abraham Lincoln was one of the few exceptional men who could not fail to have ultimately cut out his path to distinction, determining early in one of the practical phases of life:

"Occupying an ordinary and commonplace position in one of the show cases in the large hall of the Patent Office, it is not until we turn in again to come to the prize as at once one of the most curious, and one of the most sacred relics in that vast museum of unique and precious things. This is a plain and simple model of a steamboat roughly modeled in wood by the hand of Abraham Lincoln. It was made in 1819, when the inventor was simply known as a successful lawyer and rising politician of Central Illinois. Neither his practice nor his politics took up so much of his time as to prevent him from giving much attention to contrivances which he hoped might be of benefit to the world and a profit to himself."

"The design of this invention is suggestive of one phase of Abraham Lincoln's early life, when he went up and down the Mississippi as a flatboatman, and became familiar with some of the dangers and inconveniences attending the navigation of the Western rivers. It is an attempt to make it an easy matter to transport vessels over shoals and snags and rapids. The main idea is that of an apparatus resembling a noiseless bellow, placed on each side of the hull of the craft just below the water line, and worked by an odd but not complicated system of ropes, valves, and pulleys. When the keel of the vessel grates against the sand or obstruction, these bellows are to be filled with air—and thus buoyed up, the ship is expected to float lightly over the shoal which would otherwise have proved a serious interruption to her voyage."

The model, which is about eighteen or twenty inches long, and has the air of having been whittled with a knife out of a single and a sugar box, is built without any elaboration or ornament, or any extra apparatus beyond that necessary to allow the operation of buoying the steamer over the obstructions. Herein it differs from many of the models which were shown at the Patent Office, and which are fashioned with wonderful nicety and exquisite finish, as if much of the labor, and thought, and affection of a lifetime had been devoted to their construction. This is a model of a different kind; carved, as one might imagine a retired rail-splitter would whittle, strongly, but not smoothly, and evidently made with a view to convey, by the simplest possible means, to the minds of the patent authorities an idea of the purpose and plan of the simple invention. The label on the steamer's deck informs us that the patent was obtained—but we do not learn that the navigation of the Western rivers was ascertained by this quaint conception. The modest little model has reposed here sixteen years, and since found its resting place here on the shelf, the shrewd inventor has found it his task to guide the ship of state over shoals more perilous and obstructions more obstinate than any prophet dreamed of when Abraham Lincoln wrote his bold autograph on the prow of the miniature steamer."

"In the adjoining hall of the Patent Office rest the chest, the uniform, the staff of Washington; the printing press of Franklin; the mantle of Jackson. There hangs the Declaration of Independence. To this final and fitting resting place, and out of its present surroundings of impracticable devices and machines, amazing arrangements for stopping runaway horses, and original ideas for the improvement of children's shoes, we may trust this specimen of the handwork and ingenuity of the man who saved his country and gave up his life in the fruition of the task, may presently be removed."

Old and Hatch.

The Richmond correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says:

"Old and Hatch are still enjoying the hospitality of the authorities of Libby Prison. The developments so far prove conclusively that somebody connected with the rebel Exchange Bureau has stolen the three hundred thousand dollars sent to their lines for our prisoners, but the friends of Old and Hatch say as Carverington and the other sounders are not in custody, and not likely to be, they are convinced escapees. It makes little difference which of them stole the money; some of them did, and they were all agents of a Government whose head was an assassin, and even the infamy of stealing from helpless, starving prisoners can hardly descend below that."

"There will be a thorough and searching investigation into the affairs of Old and Hatch, and it will probably result in the solving of the curious financial problem of how it was possible, on a Captain's pay, and that in Confederate rags, for a man to keep a large and luxurious establishment, reveal in high play, using often more than winning, drink, fine wines, drive fast horses; yet all these things, and others requiring money for their performance, this man Hatch did, yet Hatch was notoriously bankrupt, and his sole visible means of support were a Captain's pay in the rebel army, paid in rebel rags."

THE POCKET-BOOK.—Scene First.

A young gent discovered surrounded by his friends, who are jesting with him regarding his attentions to a young lady.

YOUNG GENT.—"Boys, I'll just tell you how it is. You see, I am looking for the girl—the old man's pocket-book I'm after."

CHORUS OF FRIENDS.—"Hal ha ha!"

Scene Second.—A parlor. Time 11 o'clock P. M. Young gent rising to depart. Besitates, as if doubtful, and then slowly remarks:

"Miss Matilda, excuse me, but you must be aware that my frequent visits—my attentions—cannot have been without an object."

YOUNG LADY.—"Ah, yes, so I've heard, and shall only be too happy to grant what you desire. [Takes from the table a paper packet, and unfolding it, displays a large, old-fashioned and empty morocco pocket-book.] This, I have been informed, is the object. I desire to present it, and congratulate you on the fact that you will in future have no occasion to renew these visits and attentions."

Young gent swears.

Governor McGrath has called the South Carolina Legislature to meet at Greenville on Tuesday, 25th inst.

A State Convention to consist of delegates from all the counties in North Carolina, is called for the 14th of May.

Edwin Booth, in a private letter to a friend in Washington, announces his determination to quit the stage forever.

The Burlington (Vt.) Times says the fifty-five thousand deserters, under one of the last proclamations of President Lincoln, have within ten days past emigrated from Canada, reported at Cape, Glasgow's office, and returned to service.

The Inquisitive Yankee.

The following is a "new edition with improvements," of an old anecdote:

A gentleman riding in an eastern railroad car, which was rather sparsely supplied with passengers, observed in the seat before him a lean, slab-sided Yankee, every feature of whose face seemed to ask a question; and a circumstance soon occurred which proved that he possessed an "inquiring mind." Before him, occupying the centre seat, sat a lady, dressed in deep black; and after finishing his position several times, and maneuvering to get an opportunity to look into her face, he at length caught her eye. He nodded familiarly to her, and asked, with a nasal twang utterly incapable of imitation:

"Is allusion?"

"Yes, sir," replied the lady.

"Parents—father or mother?"

"No, sir," replied the lady.

"Child, perhaps—a boy or girl?"

"No, sir, not a child," was the response; "I have no children."

THE CITY.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Soldier's Wife Almost Instantly Killed.

One of the most heart rending accidents which ever occurred in this city took place between six and seven o'clock last evening.

Mrs. Nicholas Droyer was driving a horse attached to a single wagon down Summit Avenue, the animal became frightened by the breaking of a strap and ran. At the junction of Summit Avenue and St. Anthony street, the wheels running into the gutter threw her out of the wagon causing her to strike her head violently upon the curb stone. She was taken up insensible and carried to the residence of Mrs. Tullia, near by.

Drs. McMaister, Willey and Stewart all chanced to pass a few minutes after the accident and were called to see the dying woman. Her skull was found to be fractured and one of her hair-pins driven into her brain. Her face was also severely cut. It was impossible to render any medical aid and she died without regaining consciousness in about an hour after the accident occurred.

She was about thirty years of age, the wife of a soldier in the 1st Battalion, who has until recently been stationed at Fort Abernethy. He was in the city a day or two since and is now at Fort Snelling. Her home is on Fort street near Stahlman's brewery, and yesterday had taken a journey into the country to purchase a cow. She leaves four little children, the oldest eight years of age. The motherless little ones were left with no one in the house to care for them, but Mrs. Cullen kindly visited the place and made temporary arrangements with the neighbors to provide for them. The body still lies at the house of Mr. Tullia, and the Sisters of Charity were last evening preparing it for burial.

Mrs. Droyer was an exemplary and industrious woman. The small pay of her husband being insufficient to support the family, she energetically proceeded to aid in that effort, and it was while upon business connected with this effort that she lost her life. We are certain that our benevolent citizens will not permit those who are so suddenly deprived of a mother's love and care, to want in any respect.

Daily Union Prayer Meeting.

St. Paul, which is the commercial and moral center of the actual Northwest, has, like the other great centers of our country, a daily prayer meeting. It is held every day except Sunday, for half an hour, commencing at ten minutes after 12 o'clock, in the Lecture Room at the corner of Third and Third streets. White horse street, St. Paul, Minn. The prayer meeting is held every day except Sunday, for half an hour, commencing at ten minutes after 12 o'clock, in the Lecture Room at the corner of Third and Third streets. Arrived.—The Blakely Gun, captured by the First Battery, arrived on the Northern Belle yesterday. It is a fine steel six pounder, ribbed bore, with a muzzle four and a half inches in diameter. It has cut upon the breech the following inscription:

Blakely's Patent, No. 44, Patented, Preston & Co., Liverpool, Makers, 1864.

The English sympathizers unwittingly disclosed their "aid and comfort" for the rebellion by this inscription.

To be Furloughed.—There are nearly one hundred men in hospital at the Fort who are without their descriptive lists. They will be furloughed to-day and to-morrow and allowed to remain at home until the lists are received when they will be mustered out.

From ten to twenty per day, who are already at home on furloughs, not having been at the Fort, are reporting to Col. Averill. There are probably a thousand such cases in the State.

Among the late music received by Ross & Lacy we notice the following: How it Marches, the flag of the Union, Comrade All Around is Brightness, The Bee Song.

While all are excellent, the first named is particularly so. It is a patriotic song that will bear frequent repetition without wearing out.

Cutting Down.—The War Department is continuing to curtail the expenses of the Provost Department. An order has been received directing the discharge of the surgeon of the board of enrollment and also all special agents and deputies. The whole institution will disappear as soon as the accounts can be settled.

Fined.—James Munn and Patrick Keough were arraigned for attempting to pound the Poundmaster for impounding some of their hogs, under the pound ordinance, which so instructs the Poundkeeper to do. They were fined five dollars each.

Dry Goods.—Notwithstanding dry goods are continually advancing in the Eastern market, we notice that L. C. Burt is selling all kind of dry goods at the same prices that he was during the panic of a few weeks ago. His goods were all bought during the great decline; and although goods have advanced he is still offering great inducements to purchasers.

INGERSOLL'S HALL.—Rev. Herman Blase will preach Sunday 23d, morning and evening. Subject in the morning, "Our past life." In the evening, a lecture on "Origin and his Theology."

Services at 10 A. M. and 7 P. M.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the citizens of Minneapolis on Saturday evening the 27th inst. at 8 P. M., at Harrison's Hall, for the purpose of voting with regard to a tax for the purchase of a Fire Engine.

LA RUE'S GREAT WAR SHOW.—This remarkable and novel entertainment, combining pictorial with mechanical illustrations of the great contest now raging between the North and the South attracted a crowded and enthusiastic audience to Masonic Temple last evening. It is certainly the most striking and thrilling entertainment that has ever visited this city. The number and variety of the scenes, the thousands of moving mechanical figures, the vivid grouping of startling incidents, and the admirable and accurate illustrations by mechanism of battle, storm and shipwreck, combine to render this exhibition the grandest and most fascinating we have ever beheld. Its countless novelties, its marvellous imitations of nature and art, the illusions which deceive the eye and ear, and the beautiful painted scenery, render the Stratopore worthy the patronage of the refined and educated. Mr. La Rue's comic impersonations and burlesque lectures keep the audience in a continual roar of laughter, and form not the least pleasing portion of the entertainment. The gutter throng hereof of the wagon causing her to strike her head violently upon the curb stone. She was taken up insensible and carried to the residence of Mrs. Tullia, near by.

Drs. McMaister, Willey and Stewart all chanced to pass a few minutes after the accident and were called to see the dying woman. CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.

His Speech to the Charleston Negroes on their Rights and Duties.

His Views on Negro Suffrage.

Chief Justice Chase addressed an audience of 4,000 black loyalists in Charleston on May 12th in a lengthy speech from which we take the following extract:

"The country is in a very peculiar condition. A great race, numbering about 1,000,000, is suddenly brought into freedom. Our country is looking to see whether the prophecies of the enemies of that race will be fulfilled or not. It rests upon the men of that race to say. They say that you will be disorderly, ill-provided, lazy; that you will starve rather than work; that you cannot tempt you to work; that you will become disorderly and vagabonds. Your enemies say that; and a great many of your enemies fear it. It rests with you to show whether it shall be so or not. It does not depend on you. It depends on the country. You are not to be treated as what people say of you; feel it your own convictions that your salvation, your freedom, your rights, your duties, will be your own. You will, by your honesty, temperance, industry, faithfulness in all employments, your readiness to work for honest wages, by your economy, saving—if you will lay up a portion of each week's earnings in some Savings Bank for yourselves and families—and by your industry, your honesty, your temperance, your industry, your faithfulness in all employments, your readiness to work for honest wages, by your economy, saving—if you will lay up a portion of each week's earnings in some Savings Bank for yourselves and families—and by your industry, your honesty, your temperance, your industry, your
